Makutsi Safari Springs

Makutsi Main Camp is set on 10 hectares of tropical and landscaped gardens which ensure there are plenty of quiet places to relax and take in the surroundings. The camp is rustic, clean and well organized, offering privacy and personal attention to each and every guest. Nestled among indigenous trees, this delightful camp has two swimming pools with soft thermal mineral water that comes from the earth at 34°C, meaning guests can swim year-round. Guests are accommodated in thatched roofed rondavels. All rondavels have en-suite bathrooms, a mini-bar, coffee and tea facilities, ceiling fans, air-conditioning, mosquito nets and a terrace with lounge chairs.

Both the restaurant and the bar are built as an open 'lapa', or seating area, offering a natural and relaxed atmosphere for guests. Meals at Makutsi are a highlight with produce sourced from the lodge's own organic vegetable garden and local markets, and guests eating together in a social setting. Lunch, and snacks, can be ordered at the lodge's restaurant and café for a reasonable price.

Guests can enjoy game viewing at the local hippo pool, or watch wildlife pass by from a hidden viewing platform when not out on excursions. For those who are sports-minded you can play tennis, volleyball or table tennis, or use the lodge's fitness centre for a work-out. At an additional cost guests can enjoy local excursions such as: a 45 minute scenic helicopter ride where Makutsi staff undertake anti-poaching helicopter patrols in order to keep track of animal numbers and movements, join a ranger on a cheetah research drive, finding cheetah using the lodge's radar tracking system, visit Moholoholo Animal Rehabilitation Centre or enjoy a boat trip on the Blyde River Dam.
